

A dramatic landscape of a beach with large pieces of driftwood under a cloudy sky with a rainbow.

BATCH ORDERING · WHY YOUR STORE SHOULD STOCK IT

The Orbit We Share

A novel by Michelle Guesinger

A second-chance romance where astrophysics meets first love, set on the driftwood beaches of the Comox Valley, Vancouver Island.

ISBN 978-1-291-65389-2

LULU GLOBAL DISTRIBUTION

Five reasons it earns a place on your shelves

A genre that sells

Contemporary second-chance romance, written for readers of Emily Henry, Christina Lauren and Casey McQuiston.

A Canadian setting

Goose Spit, the Comox Glacier, Seal Bay and the Strait of Georgia, by an author who grew up there.

Book-club ready

Dual point of view, big questions about time and second chances, and three epilogues spanning twenty years.

Easy to order

One ISBN through Lulu Global Distribution, ordered the way you already order your stock.

An author you can host

Michelle is available for signings, readings and store events, especially in BC and on Vancouver Island.

IN HER WORDS · FROM THE NOVEL

“I’ve loved you since we were teenagers sitting on driftwood talking about the universe, and I never stopped.”

JULIAN

“Maeve felt like she was falling and flying at the same time, like gravity and weightlessness were the same thing.”

PART TWO: THE GRAVITY

“We’re massive objects in each other’s orbit, bending spacetime around us, creating our own gravitational field.”

MAEVE & JULIAN

THE COMOX VALLEY

A setting so vivid it becomes a character

“There is a particular quality to the light in the Comox Valley that I’ve never found anywhere else.”

MICHELLE GUESINGER, AUTHOR’S NOTE

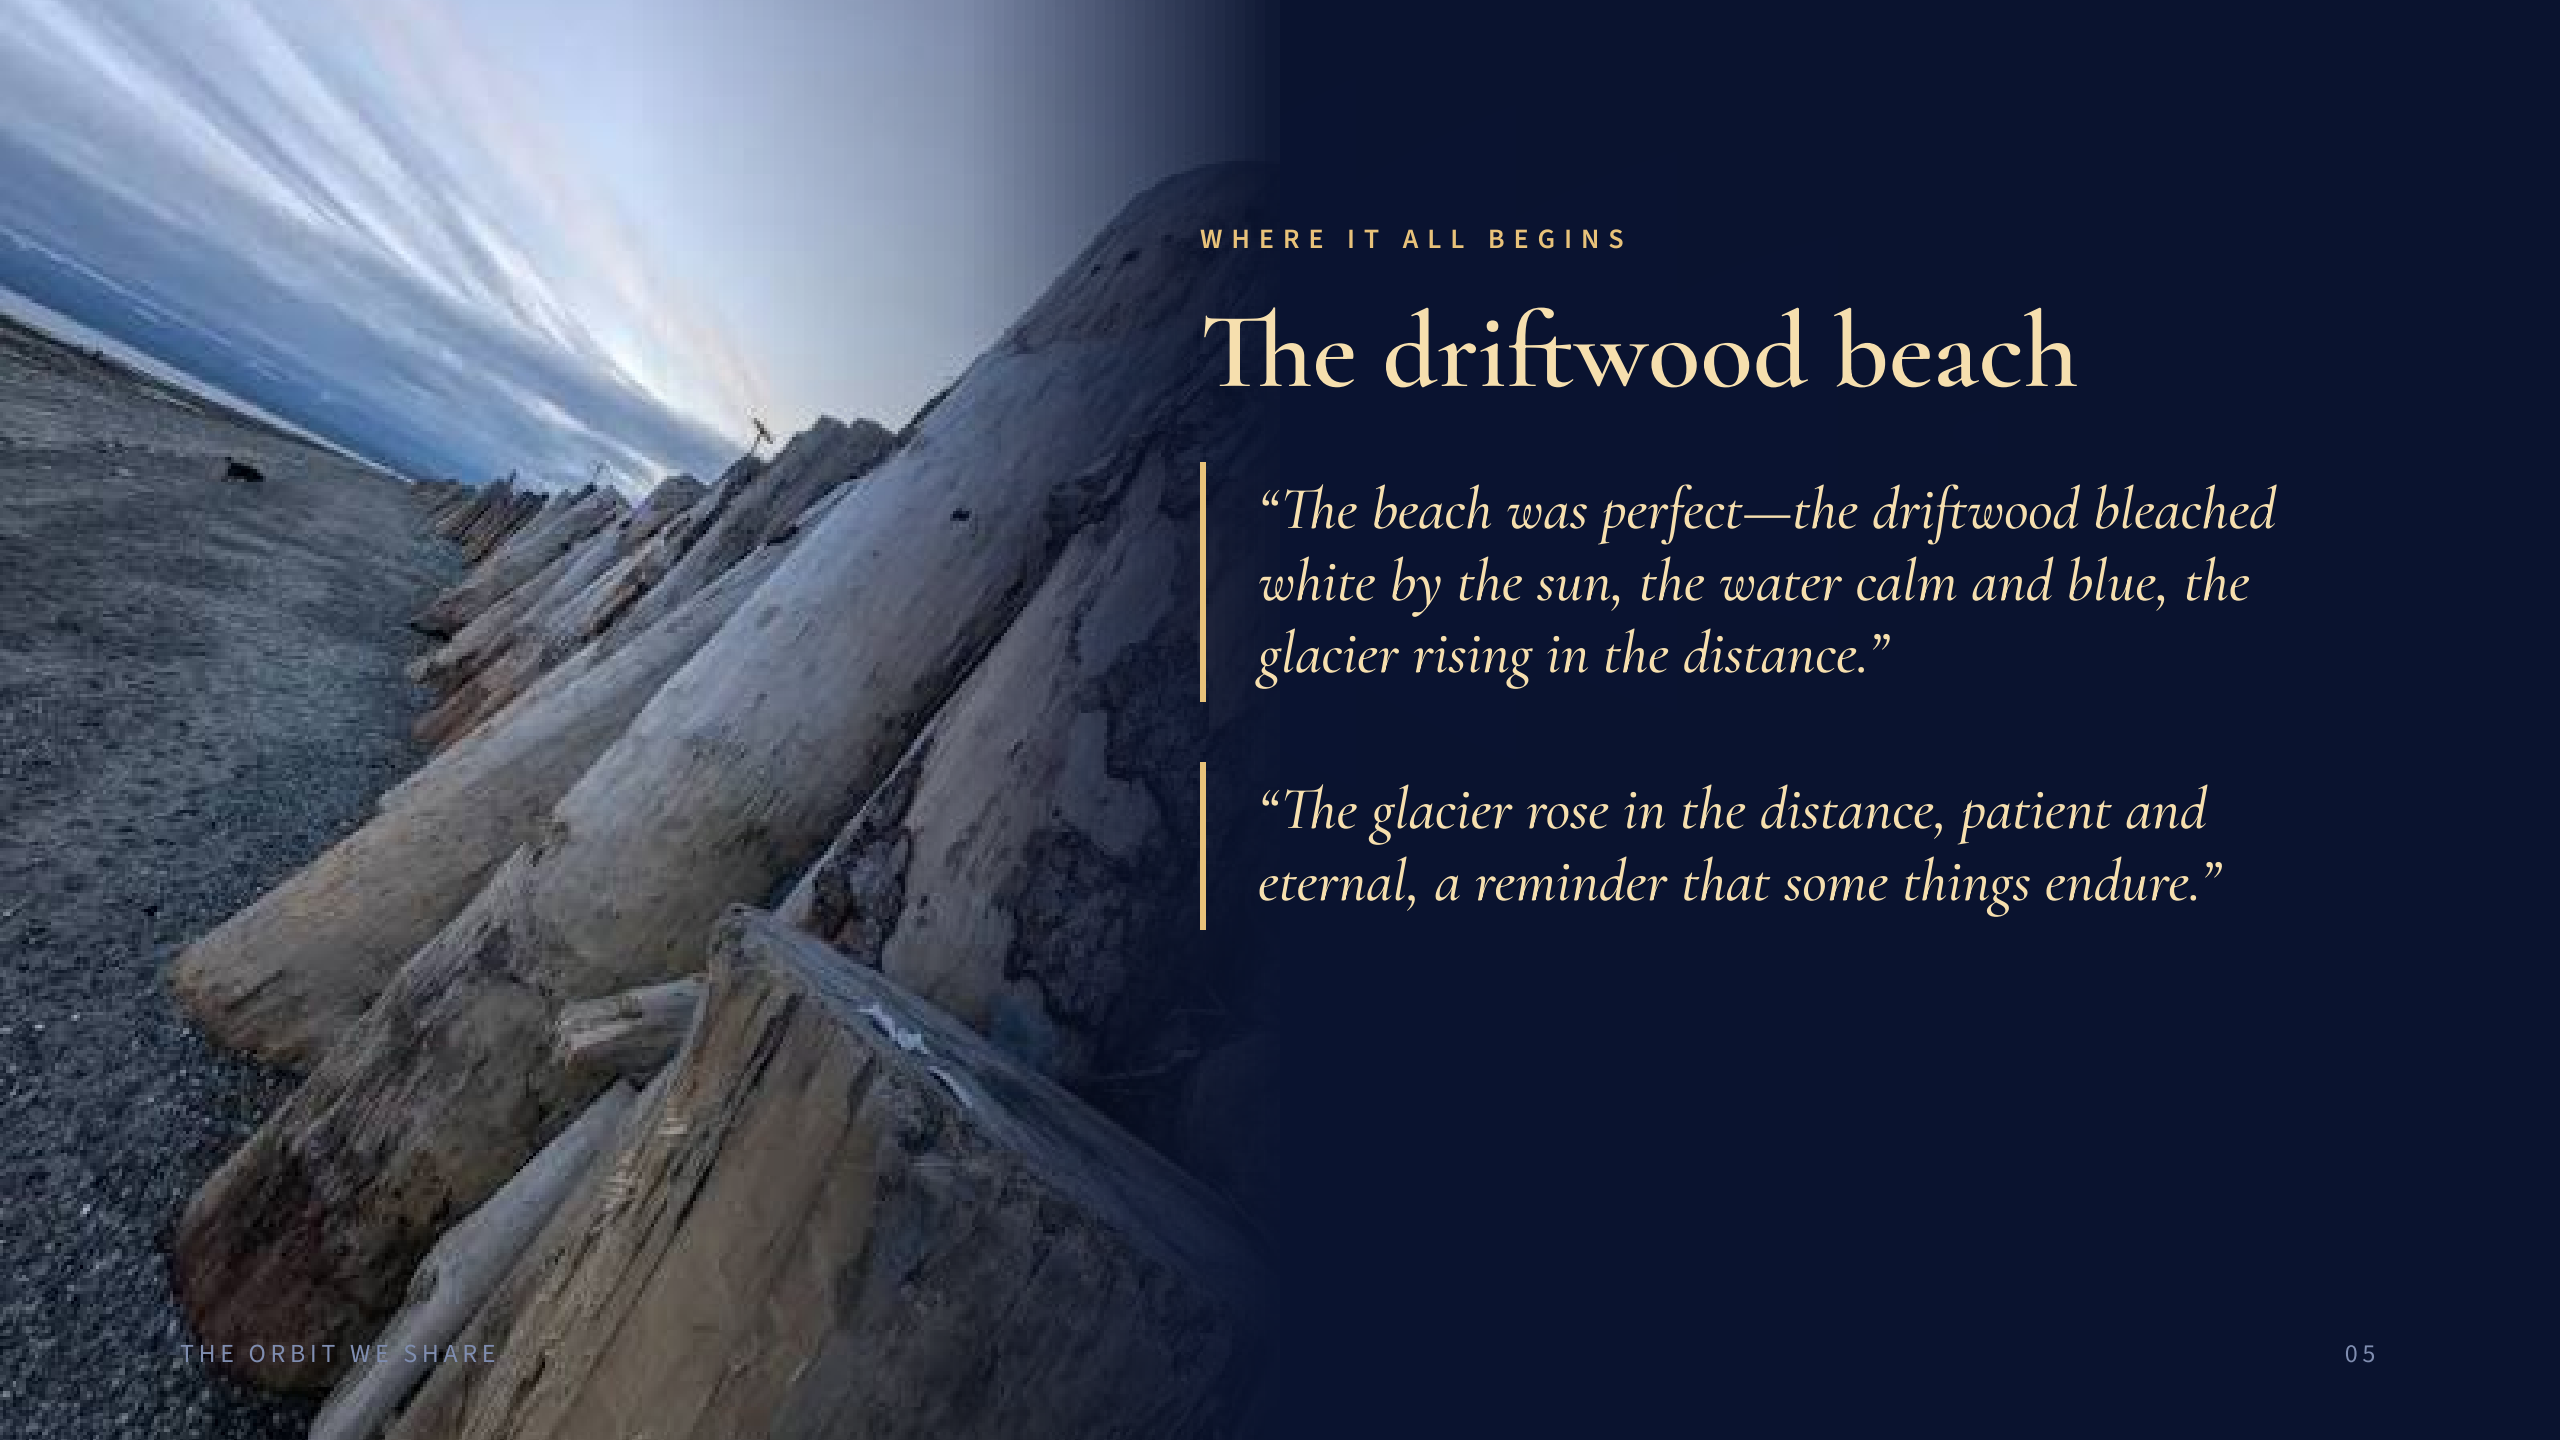

“The air smells like salt and cedar and rain, and the wind off the Strait of Georgia carries with it a kind of wildness that reminds you how small you are.”

THE HARBOUR AT DUSK

MOUNTAIN TRAILS ABOVE THE VALLEY

WHERE IT ALL BEGINS

The driftwood beach

“The beach was perfect—the driftwood bleached white by the sun, the water calm and blue, the glacier rising in the distance.”

“The glacier rose in the distance, patient and eternal, a reminder that some things endure.”

THE BOOK

A full-length, finished, shelf-ready novel

348
PAGES

~92K
WORDS

28
CHAPTERS

3
EPILOGUES

6×9
TRADE PAPERBACK

TITLE	The Orbit We Share: A Novel
AUTHOR	Michelle Guesinger
ISBN	978-1-291-65389-2
EDITION	First Edition, 2026

GENRE	Contemporary romance / book-club fiction
SETTING	Comox Valley, Vancouver Island, BC
DISTRIBUTION	Lulu Global Distribution

How to bring it into your store

- Order by ISBN 978-1-291-65389-2 through Lulu Global Distribution, using your usual ordering channel.
- Start with a batch for your romance, book-club or local-author table, and reorder as it sells.
- Ask us about larger orders and signed copies for events. We'll work with you on what fits your store.
- Book an event. Michelle would love to meet your readers in person.

LET'S MEET FACE TO FACE

Some orbits are meant to cross again.

We'd love to see Michelle's novel on your shelves.

Kevin Katovic, Manager to Michelle Guesinger

support@strategiccryptoreserve.ca